MINERS' EXECUTIVE BOARD MEETING IN DENVER

Denver, Colo., Feb. 5.—Members of the executive board of the Western Federation of Miners arrived in Denver today to attend the regular semi-annual meeting of the board. It was announced that the subjects to be discussed were the regular routine matters of the federation, dealing with individual members and local unions, and the Michigan copper miners strike.

Just what steps will be taken in connection with the latter subject were not forecast by the officials, but it was understood that methods of expediting the work of the congressional investigation in Michigan would be the chief topic of discussion.

COOKS AND WAITERS ON STRIKE IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Feb. 5.—Cooks, waiters and waitresses employed in a big Randolph street restaurant walked out today because their demands had not been granted. The union officials said the strike would extend to thirty restaurants controlled by the Restaurant Keepers' association unless the request of the employees for increased wages, shorter hours and one day off each week is complied with.

A police guard was set by the restaurants affected today.

ECONOMIST WILL OPEN NEW STORE FRIDAY 13TH

Attractive Goods and Honest Prices Beat Hoodoo Every Time, Opinion of Proprietors.

Friday, the thirteenth, has no terror for Messrs. Weinman and Lewison, proprietors of the big Economist store, who announce that they will be open for business in their spacious new quarters, the Faber building, on that date. The building seems to be the Economist's being rearranged into one of the largest and most modern stores in the southwest, and the business of transferring the large stock and getting comfortably established is to be finished up in brick order.

"We aren't a bit afraid of Friday, the thirteenth," said Mr. D. Weinman today. "We have found that attractive goods and honest prices can beat any hoodoo in the catalogue."

'TWAS CIVIL WAR SAYS JAN SMUTS

South African Union Minister of Defense Vigorously Upholds Action of Government in Strike Crisis.

[By Leased Wire to Evening Herald.]

Cape Town, Feb. 5.—After speaking for four hours yesterday in the parliament of the Union of South Africa, General Jan Christian Smuts, minister of defense, continued today his justification of the government's action in declaring martial law during the recent general strike and in deporting the strike leaders.

The minister declared that the labor leaders had planned serious military operations, had organized groups of dynamiters and had deliberately inflamed the spirit of the mob and incited it to crimes of all sorts, until the strike had developed into sheer anarchism.

"Every industry," said the minister, "was to be brought to a standstill by the strikers, but the declaration of war by the Federation of Trades was met by the proclamation of martial law and the mobilization of the citizens' defense force."

"The situation was practically one of civil war. Thousands of miners were in possession of dynamite, a native outbreak was threatened and food supplies were scarce. The government was therefore amply justified in proclaiming martial law which proved effective and the threat of a great tragedy passed away without bloodshed."

EBBETS ROUNDS UP YOUNG PLAYERS FOR BROOKLYN NATIONALS

[By Leased Wire to Evening Herald.]

Chicago, Feb. 5.—President Ebbets of the Brooklyn Nationals was reported in Chicago today rounding up some of his young players who have not yet signed. Joe Tinker, manager of the Chicago Federals, said he did not expect visit from the Brooklyn magnate, who recently was quoted as saying Tinker would be playing on his team next season. Tinker said no offer would induce him to join the Brooklyn team now.

"I would not leave the Federal league for $500,000," he declared. "I have a little money and a lot of pride."

Heinberger of Rock Island, the second baseman of the Chicago Americans, sent in his signed contract to the White Sox office today.

PRESIDENT IS DEAD AGAINST PANAMA TOLL EXEMPTION

[By Leased Wire to Evening Herald.]

Washington, Feb. 5.—President Wilson announced today that he would use every legitimate influence at his disposal to have repealed the provision of the Panama canal act exempting American coastwise vessels from the payment of tolls.

The president made it clear that he was unalterably opposed to the exemption and that his position had been perfectly well understood for some time. He emphasized that he would endeavor to have the provision repeated during the present session of congress.

This was to clear up the impression which Senator O'Gorman of New York, an advocate for the exemption, gave after a White house conference yesterday to the effect that the toll controversy would be crowded out of the legislative calendar of the present session by the trust bills and appropriation measures if a short session was contemplated.

That was to clear up the impression which Senator O'Gorman of New York, an advocate for the exemption, gave after a White house conference yesterday to the effect that the toll controversy would be crowded out of the legislative calendar of the present session by the trust bills and appropriation measures if a short session was contemplated.

President Wilson, commenting on the resolution said:

"From the one bill that has been presented, it is evident the other anti-corporation measures will create conditions such as have never existed. They will be of the essence of paternalism. It is for the people of this country to say whether they desire paternalistic form of government."

President Claffin, commenting on the resolution said:

"From the one bill that has been presented, it is evident the other anti-corporation measures will create conditions such as have never existed. They will be of the essence of paternalism."

I cannot tell you how I suffered with my head, and with nervousness and womanly troubles.

Our family doctor told my husband he could not do me any good, and he had to give it up. We tried another doctor, but he did not help me.

At last, my mother advised me to take Cardui, the woman's tonic, I thought it was no use for I was nearly dead and nothing seemed to do me any good. But I took eleven bottles, and now I am able to do all of my work and my own washing.

I think Cardui is the best medicine in the world. My weight has increased, and I look the picture of health."

If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, get a bottle of Cardui today. Delay is dangerous. We know it will help you, for it has helped so many thousands of other weak women in the past 50 years.

Save the Hogs!

Washington, Feb. 5.—A threatening loss of $200,000,000 in hogs during the present year from hog cholera, led the senate today to agree unanimously to a bill appropriating $100,000 for the department of agriculture to fight the disease.

GARCIA MURDERED BY SON-IN-LAW AT TORREON

Grant Commissioner and Merchant Struck Down With Axe as He Goes to Protect Daughter From Husband.

WOMAN ALSO EXPECTED TO DIE OF WOUNDS

Sheriff Meyer of Torrance County and Posse on Trail of Murderer Who Makes Escape Into Mountains.

Ross Garcia, well known in Albuquerque, where his family for some time have made their home, and one of the prominent native citizens of Torrance county, was killed last night at his home in Torreon on the east slope of the Manzano mountains by his son-in-law, Enrique Salas, who made his escape and who today is being hunted by a posse headed by Sheriff Julian Meyer of Torrance county.

Salas probably by the time he is caught will have a double murderer charge to face, for before killing Garcia he assaulted his wife with an axe, fracturing her skull. The woman was still alive early this morning but was not expected to survive.

Mrs. Garcia and her three children, who have been living here during the winter, were advised of the tragedy last night and left at once for Torreon, driven in an automobile by J. A. Garcia's Sanchez, a relative of the murdered man. According to the telephone messages received last night from Torreon and Estancia, the murderer was the outcome of family differences which have been breeding for some time. Salas and his wife lived not far from the Garcia house which, with its accompanying store, is the principal building in Torreon, grant of which Garcia was one of the commissioners. Salas and his wife engaged in a quarrel in the course of which the man struck her on the head with an axe. Neighbors heard the struggle and informed Garcia, who went to the son-in-law's house only to be met at the door by Salas, who swung his axe down on the older man's head, crushing the skull. Death resulted in about two hours. Salas at once took to the hills which rise just behind the village, and up to this morning no report of his capture had been received, although as Sheriff Meyer got to Torreon about 19 o'clock last night, it is believed Salas has not sufficient start to make his escape.

Salas was a young man of about 25 years. Garcia was between 45 and 50. He was well known here, where he bought goods for his store at Torreon and through his store and lengthy stays in Albuquerque. In addition to his store Garcia was owner of a large acreage in the Torreon grant and was one of the head men of the village.

CURRENCY SYSTEMS WAIT ON LITTLE NONA

[By Leased Wire to Evening Herald.]

Los Angeles, Feb. 5.—Because arrangements could not be completed today to christen baby Nona Martin, granddaughter of William G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury, the departure today of the federal reserve organization committee for Texas has been deferred.

The secretary said he was not superstitious and the christening was set for tomorrow, after which Secretary McAdoo with D. F. Houston of the department of agriculture, will depart for El Paso, where the next hearing of bankers will be held.

Battle Freezing.

Butte, Mont., Feb. 5.—With the mercury at 18 degrees below zero, Butte today is experiencing the coldest snap this winter. The extreme official temperature during the night was 22 degrees. Montana, northern Idaho and eastern Washington are experiencing the coldest weather of the season and the forecast is for continued cold for several days. Heavy snow preceded the drop in temperature and in sections blizzards are raging.

Considerable interest has been aroused by the display in front of the Harvey museum building of two large meteorites about whose origin Herman Schweizer is most mysteriously secretive, the plain inference being that they are chunks of the one that recently hit B. Rupp's mine and exploded his storehouse. One weighs 949 pounds and pickle and polishing stone show it to be composed of iron, manganese and nickel. The other weighs 469 pounds and is light red in color and is powdered by local scientists a true meteorite.

Mr. Brandeis Chairman of Board to Help Out New Haven

[By Leased Wire to Evening Herald.]

Washington, Feb. 5.—Louis D. Brandeis of Boston probably will be chairman of a board of trustees to take over the Boston and Maine holdings of the New York, New Haven and Hartford, under the plan agreed to by Attorney General McReynolds and Chairman Elliott of the New Haven.

Mr. Brandeis conferred with Attorney General McReynolds today and although no announcement was made at the department of justice, it was understood that he was asked to become chairman of the trustees.

Other trustees have not been selected and it is possible that two or four more will be chosen.

Mr. Brandeis has taken a peculiar interest in the affairs of the New Haven for many years and is thoroughly familiar with the details of its acquisition of the Boston and Maine.

Debate on Primary Law.

Washington, Feb. 5.—Debate on President Wilson's proposal for presidential primaries came up in the senate today with Senator Walsh's bill for a temporary method of nominating and electing senators.

Senator Sutherland (Republican) contended that a federal primary election law would be unconstitutional.

"I disagree with the president," he said. "The constitution provides that the manner of selecting presidential electors shall be determined by the state legislatures. If we could pass a law we would have no power to enforce it."

The eccentric club will meet with Mrs. H. E. Rogers on the 13th instead of the 7th, as announced.

The date for the high school indoor athletic meet at the armory has been changed from February 7 to February 14.

E. H. Norris and John D. Hughes, practical architects of experience and ability, have assumed the business of the late Jack Head, whose death occurred yesterday and will maintain offices in the rooms over the First National Bank. Both are well known here and will undoubtedly get a large share of the local business.

President Claffin, commenting on the resolution said:

People Threatened With Paternalism Says New Yorker

[By Leased Wire to Evening Herald.]

New York, Feb. 5.—The New York chamber of commerce, at a meeting today, discussed a resolution protesting against the bill pending in congress to create an interstate trade commission, on the ground that it contains provisions unsound in principle and in violation of rights of privacy in the transaction of business.

After discussion the resolution was referred to the executive committee.

President Claffin, commenting on the resolution said:

"From the one bill that has been presented, it is evident the other anti-corporation measures will create conditions such as have never existed. They will be of the essence of paternalism."
